DR GODWIN KHOSA

Dr Godwin Khosa is the founding CEO of the National Education Collaboration Trust (NECT), a multi-stakeholder organisation that has raised and invested nearly R3 billion towards improving basic education in South Africa since 2013. Before leading the NECT, he served as CEO of JET Education Services, where he led the Secretariat that facilitated the establishment of the NECT. Dr Khosa began his career as a teacher before moving into education policy research at the Centre for Education Policy Development and later the Human Sciences Research Council (HSRC). Over the years, he has led and managed large-scale social impact initiatives in partnership with governments, international development agencies, and the private sector.

He holds a Doctoral degree from the University of Sussex, a Master's degree and a Postgraduate Diploma in Public and Development Management from the University of the Witwatersrand, a BA (Hons) in Geography from the University of South Africa, and a BA in Education from the University of the North.

Dr Khosa has served on a number of boards and advisory bodies, including the Council of the University of Johannesburg, ABSA Bank's CSI Trust and BBBEE Holding Company, the Advisory Board of CPUT's Global Institute for Teacher Education and Society, and the Education Academic Advisory Board of the University of the Free State.

He is currently a Professor of Practice in the Faculty of Education at the University of Johannesburg, where his work focuses on social policy and programme implementation science.
